Closing Remarks

Dear Friends,

Thank you for joining us for the 2010 Commencement Recognition Celebration, which continues a longstanding Simmons tradition: honoring individuals who have demonstrated a remarkable commitment to improving the lives of others.

This evening, those we recognize include our six distinguished honorary degree candidates. Through a powerful combination of talent, vision, and hard work, our honorees have pursued trailblazing careers and made extraordinary contributions to their fields of endeavor and the wider world.

We are also here to celebrate members of the College's 1899 Society and John Simmons Society. Their loyalty and generous philanthropic support – including for the Making Education Work campaign enable Simmons to fulfill its historic mission: preparing students for rewarding lives and careers – like those we honor this evening.

On behalf of the entire Simmons community, we applaud all our honored guests and invite everyone to enjoy the evening.

Sincerely,

Lauren J. Brisky '73

Undergraduate Commencement Speaker

ELIZABETH ALEXANDER, PH.D

Doctor of Humane Letters

Dr. Elizabeth Alexander is a highly respected and accomplished poet, winning critical acclaim for what has been described as an "instinct for turning her profound cultural vision into one that illuminates universal experience." Dr. Alexander's poem "Praise Song for the Day," written for the inauguration of President Barack Obama, catapulted her into the national spotlight in January 2009. Dr. Alexander is the fourth person in United States history to serve as inaugural poet, joining the esteemed ranks of Miller Williams, Maya Angelou, and Robert Frost. Currently the chairwoman of the African-American Studies Department at Yale University, Dr. Alexander is considered among the nation's leading modern poets and a pivotal voice in African-American poetry.

The Evening's Honorees

BREWSTER KAHLE

Doctor of Computer Science

Brewster Kahle has spent his career intent on a singular focus: making information free and accessible through digital means. He is a passionate advocate for public internet access and a successful entrepreneur in his field. While a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Kahle studied artificial intelligence. Soon after graduating, he helped found the company Thinking Machines, a supercomputer maker. In 1989, Kahle created the Internet's first publishing system, Wide Area Information Server (WAIS), and established WAIS, Inc. With The Wall Street Journal as a first customer, the company revolutionized the electronic publishing market. Kahle eventually sold the company to America Online. In 1996, Kahle founded the Internet Archive, the largest digital archive in the world. With a staff of nearly 300 and 100 partnering libraries, the organization is creating an online catalog of every book ever created. Also in 1996, he co-founded Alexa Internet, a service that collects data on web browsing behavior for future analysis. This company was sold to Amazon.com in 1999. Kahle is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the National Academy of Engineering, and serves on the boards of the Electronic Frontier Foundation, Public Knowledge, the European Archive, the Television Archive, and the Internet Archive. In 2009, Kahle was named by Utne Reader as one of the "50 Visionaries Changing Your World."

FRANCES MOORE LAPPÉ

Doctor of Nutrition Science

Frances Moore Lappé has devoted her career to exploring the intersection of food, society, economics, and policy. She has authored or co-authored 18 books on the subject. Lappé is the co-founder of three national organizations that explore the root causes of hunger, poverty, and environmental crises, as well as emerging solutions. In 1975, Lappé launched the California-based Food First: The Institute for Food and Development Policy, which is described as one of the nation's "most respected food think tanks." In 1990, Lappé co-founded the Center for Living Democracy, a 10-year initiative to help accelerate the spread of democratic innovations. In 2001, Lappé and her daughter, Anna Lappé, founded the Small Planet Institute in Cambridge, Massachusetts, with the goal of creating and sustaining a "Living Democracy," a culture that values inclusion, fairness, and mutual accountability in public life. In 2004, Lappé became a founding councilor of the 50-member World Future Council, which supports sustainable political decisions and frameworks to ensure a better future for the world. Lappé has received 17 honorary doctorates from distinguished institutions, and has been recognized by numerous organizations.

Graduate Commencement Speaker

BEVERLY L. MALONE, PH.D., RN, FAAN

Doctor of Nursing

Dr. Beverly L. Malone is a highly respected leader in the fields of nursing and health care in the United States and abroad. She is the Chief Executive Officer of the National League for Nursing — one of the premier organizations for nursing faculty and leaders with 30,000 individual and 1,200 institutional members. A Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing, Dr. Malone has served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Health in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Dr. Malone was appointed by President Clinton to the World Health Commission, and to serve as a member of the U.S. delegation to the World Health Assembly. She also was appointed by President Clinton to the President's Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Health Care Industry, where she was a participant in the President's round table discussion on the Patient's Bill of Rights. In 2000, Dr. Malone was selected to deliver the keynote address at the Simmons College School of Health Sciences Centennial Symposium. In 2005, Dr. Malone was named the Dotson Visiting Scholar for the Simmons College School of Health Sciences.

MARION WALTER, ED.D.

Doctor of Science

Dr. Marion Walter is a widely published mathematics educator. She learned at a young age about the power of education and persistence. At the age of seven, while growing up in Germany, she neglected to say "Heil Hitler" to her teacher. While this was a rash act for a Jewish girl in pre-World War II Germany, her family was saved from punishment because she was the best student in arithmetic. After studying in England, Dr. Walter matriculated at Hunter College in New York City, and graduated in 1950 with a B.A. in mathematics. Dr. Walter earned an M.S. in mathematics from New York University in 1954, and then spent two years as a graduate teaching assistant at Cornell University. While at Cornell, Dr. Walter decided to focus on teaching. In 1956 she was hired by Simmons College, where she taught until 1965. While at Simmons, Dr. Walter became a role model for many of her female students. At a time when young women generally were discouraged from pursuing careers in mathematics, Dr. Walter took her students seriously when they wanted to learn more about the subject. At the urging of her students, and the subsequent request of the Simmons College President, Dr. Walter established the mathematics major at Simmons. This year marks the 50th Reunion of the first three women who graduated with mathematics majors at Simmons.

Lifetime giving of $500,000 and above

(as of April 16, 2010)

Simmons College is pleased to recognize the visionary philanthropy of individuals, corporations, foundations, and trusts who have made gifts totaling $500,000 or more to Simmons during their lifetimes. The College is grateful for their extraordinary generosity, which has transformed our academic programs, our campus, and the lives of countless students. The Lifetime Giving Wall, located in the Main College Building at 300 The Fenway, is a lasting tribute to these donors and their legacies.
